

Orthodontic Elastics

During treatment you will be given elastics to wear to help move your teeth. They may change in size, pressure and the way you place them on your teeth. This is a special time in your orthodontic treatment where you have additional control over how well your treatment progresses.

Your treatment will progress the best if you follow these instructions:

- ❖ Wearing your elastics correctly is very important to keep your treatment going in the right direction. Make sure you are wearing the correct size and attaching them as you are instructed.
- ❖ You may experience discomfort at first, however, as you wear your elastics continuously that should disappear.
- ❖ Wear your elastics all the time including sleeping unless we tell you differently.
- ❖ You may remove them while you are brushing your teeth and eating. Make sure to replace them immediately.
- ❖ Replace your elastics if they break and change them three times a day after eating.
- ❖ Always carry extra elastics with you so you can replace broken ones right away.
- ❖ If you run out of elastics or loose them, you may call us and we will keep you supplied with more. It is important that when you need more elastics that you ask for the correct name.

- ❖ The name of your elastic is _____.
